

Who Have I Come Here to Be?

Step One:

In the chart below, list the names of five people you admire. They could be real or fictional, living or dead.

Step Two:

Beside each person, list three qualities you admire about them. For example: strong, trustworthy, compassionate, joyful, appreciative, creative, and so on. You may list the same quality for more than one person.

Name	Three Qualities You Admire

Step Three:

Look over the qualities you listed in the chart above.

- Are there any qualities that appear next to more than one person?
- Of the qualities that appear once, are there any that especially resonate with you?

List up to five of these qualities in the table:

Step Four:

In the blank space next to the five qualities you chose, write the words "I have come here to be..."